The mission of the Domestic Violence Network is to engage the community to end domestic violence through advocacy, education, and collaboration.

Central Indiana partners build on over 10 years of collaborative work through the

COMMUNITY WIDE PLAN to End Domestic Violence

To ensure a strong transition from Peace in Our Homes: A Call to End Domestic Abuse in Central Indiana to the next Community Wide Plan, the Domestic Violence Network partnered with a community development consulting firm to complete a formal evaluation of Peace in Our Homes in the summer of 2012, and engaged an outside facilitator to complete an Environmental Scan in the fall. The results of the evaluation and the themes which emerged from the Environmental Scan will ultimately guide the community’s development of the goals, objectives, and action items of the next Community Wide Plan, to be released in October 2013.

The powerful new awareness campaign

INDIANA SAYS NO MORE

reaches thousands

On behalf of our partners throughout the state, in September 2012 the Domestic Violence Network officially launched a brand new domestic violence and sexual assault awareness campaign, Indiana Says No More. In the first month of the campaign alone, the public service announcement was viewed over 1,000 times online and thousands more through local TV and radio spots.

SURVIVOR ASSISTANCE FUNDS help reduce barriers for domestic violence survivors and their children to reach and maintain safety and self-sufficiency

In 2012, the Domestic Violence Network provided over $95,000 of emergency transportation, emergency housing, and self-sufficiency assistance to 419 victims and survivors of domestic violence. This direct assistance, which included funding for hotel stays, gas cards, bus passes, car repairs, rent, rental deposits, mortgage down payments, legal assistance, childcare, medical care, job training, and computer training, helped survivors and their children to make safe escapes from abusive homes, reach critical supportive services, and establish long-term self-sufficiency.
THE ADVOCATES GROUP
provides Advocates with a unique way to connect, share resources, and participate in professional development opportunities

In 2012, the Domestic Violence Network provided professional development to 59 direct service providers representing 34 partner organizations through the Advocates Group. Of those professionals who participated, 95% reported an increased understanding of the topic and ability to directly apply it to their victim advocacy work.

Opportunities for executive-level collaboration increase through the

THE CEO GROUP

The Domestic Violence Network initiated the multi-sector CEO Group in 2012 to establish a collective voice of leadership on domestic violence issues, to share resources, and to engage leaders in grassroots community organizing strategies to improve the community’s prevention efforts and response to domestic violence.

HEALTHY RELATIONSHIP EDUCATION sessions prepare local teens to navigate relationships safely and confidently

The Domestic Violence Network facilitated 49 Healthy Relationship classes for over 1,400 Marion County youth in 2012. Of the teens who participated, 93% reported an increased capacity to identify signs and symptoms of dating violence and 91% reported an increased awareness of community services available to help address dating and domestic violence.

Central Indiana partners support

BAKER ONE

In 2012, the Indianapolis Metropolitan Police Department (IMPD), in partnership with the Domestic Violence Network, The Julian Center, and the Marion County Prosecutor’s Office, implemented Baker One, a groundbreaking proactive policing approach to reduce domestic violence homicides and serious assaults in Central Indiana.
